

Read the story carefully. Then answer each question below in a full sentence. Think about what the weather did and what changed because of it. Trace the chain step by step.

The Windy Kite Day

The town square was buzzing for the annual Kite Festival. Children held colorful kites, ready to fly them high. But then, a strong, gusty wind began to blow. The festival organizer, Mr. Henderson, sadly announced it was too windy to fly kites safely.

A wave of disappointment swept through the crowd. Little Lily's bright red dragon kite drooped. Just as everyone was about to leave, Mrs. Gable, the kind baker from the corner shop, had an idea. "Come to my bakery!" she called out. "We can make paper kites inside and have warm cookies!"

Soon, the bakery was full of happy children. They colored and cut paper, gluing on tails. The strong wind still howled outside, but inside, laughter echoed as everyone made their own special paper kites. It turned out to be a wonderful, cozy kite-making day after all.

COMPREHENSION QUESTIONS

- (1) Which of these BEST explains why the Kite Festival activities moved inside? Circle the correct answer.
- (A) Mrs. Gable asked everyone to come inside.
 - (B) The children wanted warm cookies.
 - (C) The wind was too strong to fly kites safely.

Ⓓ Mr. Henderson wanted to go to the bakery.

(2) Complete the sentence: Because _____, Mr. Henderson announced the festival was too windy.

(3) What was one effect of the strong wind on the Kite Festival?

(4) Describe how the strong wind led to the festival being moved and then to a cozy kite-making day.

(5) What might have happened if the wind had NOT been strong? Explain.

